ABOUT THE PROJECT

BLUEFRONT is a transformative project that puts young people at the center of innovation and action for sustainable water management and the blue economy. By connecting communities across Europe's diverse aquatic landscapes—spanning islands, rivers, lakes, and lagoons—BLUEFRONT empowers youth to tackle pressing environmental challenges and drive meaningful change.

Through hands-on workshops, cutting-edge digital learning, and youth-led community initiatives, we equip young people with the knowledge, skills, and confidence to lead the way toward water justice and sustainability. Whether it's designing local roadmaps for water conservation, creating impactful awareness campaigns, or collaborating across borders to share ideas, BLUEFRONT is about turning ambition into action.

What sets us apart is our commitment to inclusivity and equity. We work with youth from all backgrounds, ensuring that those in rural, remote, and underserved regions are part of the conversation. With a focus on building a greener, more inclusive future, BLUEFRONT isn't just a project—it's a movement for a thriving blue economy and resilient communities. Join us as we reimagine how we care for our water systems and empower the next generation to make waves in sustainability.

KICK OFF MEETING

On the 29th and 30th of October, the BLUEFRONT consortium gathered at the Finnish Institute in Athens, Greece, to chart the course for our ambitious project.

This consortium meeting marks the beginning of an exciting journey. Over the next months, we'll continue to collaborate, innovate, and deliver milestones that bring us closer to a more sustainable future.

FOCUS GROUPS

In December 2024 & January 2025 all partners organized focus groups to explore the future of water sustainability and climate action!

Together with experts and youth activists, we dove deep into the challenges and opportunities surrounding water resources, climate change, and the Blue Economy. These discussions will shape our "Guidelines for Research" and help create impactful "Water Roadmaps" to ensure a sustainable future for our aquatic ecosystems and communities.
